

Grohe

Portuguese factory was nominated the best of the group

The Portuguese factory Grohe was completed in 2001. Engexpor was selected for the project management and its construction, taking up all the steps of the process and guaranteeing all quality, precision and security standards asked for by the world leader of faucets.

Situated in Albergaria-a-Velha, the unit has a construction area of 10.000 m², and is responsible for 25% of the brand's production. In 2012, the German multinational nominated the Portuguese factory as the best production unit of the group.

Grohe Portugal

Albergaria-a-Velha / Portugal

GCA

10.000 m²

2001

Completed

