Different volumes harmonise the building with its surroundings

The project and construction management of the new residential building that will be built in Dafundo, in Algés, is ensured by Engexpor.

Promoted by Nexity, the building has a total construction area of 12,000 m² and will accommodate 60 apartments, in addition to a two-story underground car park.

With an architectural project signed by Promontório, one of the most striking features of the project is the irregular height of the building - with a maximum of six floors - providing better integration in the surroundings, more views over the river, and better sun exposure.

The creation of a central square and abundant green spaces are other features that define the project.
