

Vale do Lobo Resort

A historical benchmark and a flagship in Algarve luxury tourism

Acknowledged as one of the most important luxury tourism property ventures in Europe, Vale do Lobo was the Algarve's first resort founded in 1962, and is currently the largest of its kind in Portugal operated by the same entity.

With an exclusive environment and community spirit, Vale do Lobo is a self-sufficient resort with an extensive range of installations and services providing an unique lifestyle experience for visitors and residents. The stunning natural beauty is enriched by numerous sports and leisure activities, international restaurants, a medical center, bank, insurer, rent-a-car, tobacco store, supermarket, and an internal transport service.

A genuine "city" in the Almancil region, over its 55 years of existence, it has undergone constant, innovative property developments, many of which involve Engexpor in a project management role in the construction of estates, tourism apartments and the respective infrastructure, ensuring the highest of standards for the project.
